To a nice girl.
Have fun this summer. You will have to come over this and go swimming. Then you will get stung and cry a lot and we will all

Short Lane: Zoned for Action

Just as the county is divided by a broad strip of asphalt called Rt. 17, it is also divided by the controversial topic of zoning. Community topics like zoning are even hotly discussed in some classrooms, but the lively folks at G.H.S. know that Short Lane is zoned for action: action in the parking lot, in the hallways, in the classrooms, in the court yard, on the football field, on the hockey field, in the drama pit, and in the music suite. Everywhere students rush to club meetings, to soccer practice, to class for a quiz, and to lunch!

Mr. Hirschberg and other faculty members invade the library. New businesses have made zones of their own. Mrs. Pointer and Mrs. Keenan have zoned themselves for guidance. David Birdsall and Shelia Kendrik seem to have different opinions of this classroom zone.

Pro

Know it or not we have our own predetermined zones. These zones, such as drama, math, and history class, are put to good use on into life. Becoming active members of the community is our goal, and to do this we need background in many subjects. There are some zones we aren't allowed in such as the teachers' center and lounge, but sooner or later we will conquer them also. So we go into our zones for action with our classes, friends, hockey, yearbooks, and life.

If carried out correctly many people think that zoning will be an advantage to businessmen and home owners. Zoning keeps junk yards and apartment complexes away from commercial areas. Zoning prevents the values of homes from dropping because of businesses. Also, very few people want to go through a 35 mph residential area to get to a store. Zoning helps communities grow and prosper in the right proportion.

Zoning stops people from selling their land to whomever they want. Also, if you own a piece of land that is zoned for business you can't build a house there. This interferes with the rights of citizens and could be referred to as a defense against the constitution. Although this statement seems out of proportion to many people, there are still those for whom freedom is an issue.

What's in La Vogue

This year at Gloucester High the fashions are like any and every other place in the world. Students as well as teachers desire to indulge in the sometimes expensive hobby of fashion. The latest, the latest . . . big collarless tops with vest and ties. The straight leg pants and low shoes are back, too. Not only do students wear these fashions, but express their own personality. So what's in La Vogue for this year; the G.H.S. look!

Ms. Russell and Delores Dixon have taken up modeling?

FASHION

◀ Mr. Brown has his own distinct fashion.

Girls weren't the only ones who were in fashion this year. The guys decided to get into the act, too. In their three piece suits and ski sweaters they paraded down the halls in style.

The whole school got bitten by the fashion bug and the outcome was fantastic.

Mrs. Field models in the teachers' center while Mrs. Long adds a touch of class of the hall.

▲ Jeans are still hanging in there.

Mrs. Van Gieson and Mrs. Connor are very chic.

When the cry of "No Floats" echoed throughout the school, even before the S.C.A. officers had time to relay the message to their homerooms, the tidings were greeted with disgust and disappointment.

"What is a homecoming without floats?" the school asked. The freshmen were dismayed at the prospect of never experiencing the excitement and competition of floatmaking. The sophomores had been ready to charge head-on to a second vigorous victory over the smug upper classmen. All hope of revenging last year's loss was abandoned by the juniors and seniors.

But after many argumentive meetings and conferences with the faculty, the consent everyone had waited for was given. The high school became an object of aggressiveness ready to plow through the Northumberland Indians. Each class went their own ways to tip canoes, trample tribes, beat Indians and "totem away."

When Homecoming night

finally came and G.H.S.ers sat expectantly fastened to their seats, the results were announced. George Simpson slowly called, "Juniors, first place, Seniors, second place, and Freshmen, third." The outcome was greeted with varied reactions.

As it turned out, everyone seemed happy enough after the victory, each going off on their own ways again, to Anna's, the bowling alley, or to finish off the week of festivities with the Homecoming dance.

Floats Finish First

▲ From left to right: The Dukes trampled the tribe, but in the float competition the sophomores got trampled.

Ellen Cooper shows her spirit by urging the Dukes onward to victory. ►

Dukes were labelled number ONE at the Homecoming game.

The freshmen were very explicit in showing their theme "Tip Canoe, Indians Too."

Kevin Lipscomb, official sophomore float puller, waits for the outcome of the float competition.

Juniors, Martha Zahn, Robin Lewis, and Sherri Benton express their views on the winning float.

Homecoming Queens

- 1- Upper right — Maid of Honor Toni Permoda.
- 2- Lower right — Senior Atten. — Betina Wolfchesky.
- 3- Above — Junior Atten. — Patton Conner.
- 4- Lower left — Sophomore Atten. — Patty West.
- 5- Upper left — Freshman Atten. — Michelle Hogge.
- 6- Opposite pg. Lower left — Homecoming Queen — Janis Olivis.

Glamor and toughness proves that Gloucester High has what it takes to accomplish a great homecoming: lovely ladies and a great football team. The queen and her court were radiant while the opposing football team was devoured by the mighty Dukes.

There's nothing like the beat the band plays before they come on the field, or the cry of "We will fight, fight, fight for Gloucester," after our guys score a touchdown. Football games are always filled with music, but homecoming overflows. Halftime is prolonged into a song and dance number by the band, drill team, flag team, and majorettes. Then the '78 homecoming court was announced. Freshman attend. — Michelle Hogge, Sophomore attend. — Patty West, Junior — Patton Conner, Senior atten. — Betina Wolfchinsky, Maid of Honor — Toni Parmoda.

Janice Olivis was Homecoming queen of 1978. The big secret was finally out, and it was worth waiting for.

Homecoming Wins in the End Zone

As usual the cheerleaders are all mouth?

Harry Belvin receives a few viewpoints from Coach Johnson before going back on the field.

Lawrence Brown tromps the Indians to make one of his four touchdowns.

The Gloucester Dukes delighted a Homecoming crowd of about 2,350 Friday, October 6th. The Dukes crushed single-A Northumberland for a 40-6 victory. Lawrence Brown, voted "Mr. Football" during Homecoming Week, lived up to his name in running for four touchdowns in the first half to give his team a commanding 33-0 lead.

The fleet Brown, a 5'-9" and 160-pound senior, had 169 yards for ten carries. Brown's first touchdown was scored in the first minutes of the game after being set up by Jim Thomason's fumble on the 19. Harry Belvin then added the first of his four extra points.

Brown's next score came with 6:44 left in the first quarter when he awed the fans with a 77-yard run up the right side. Reprinted from the Gazette Journal.

Coach Todd gives serious thought to game while in progress; Coach Johnson and the sideline players set up for the next play.

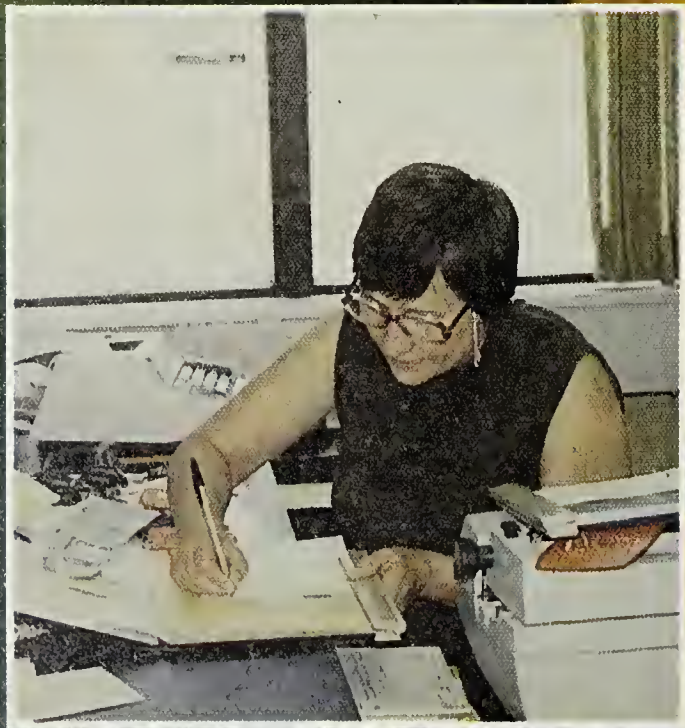

Martha Zahn plays and plays and plays and plays . . .

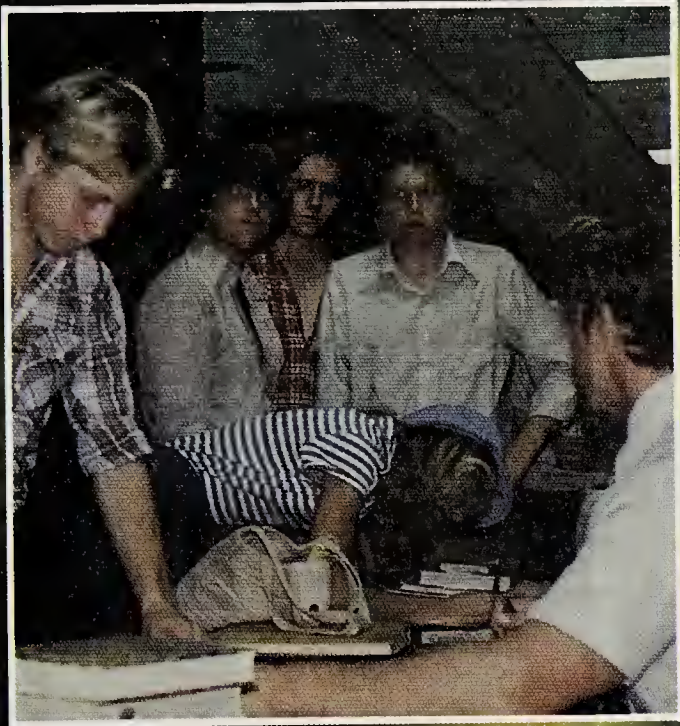

Northumberland defense seems to be lost.

It's Not All Easy

A school. As you walk down a corridor there is a stern voice asking something about homework. Up ahead you see a machine that's projecting something on a wall. A man is writing on this machine. As you get closer you notice it's a good ole' algebra teacher showing his students how to solve equations.

Suddenly, from somewhere close by you hear a firetruck, or is it a bell? You notice a clock. It's 2:50 and school's out. That is for most people. After school is when things just get started.

Outside, the football team practices for an hour and a half while the fieldhockey team practices for their next victory.

Inside, the cheerleaders work for perfection, while the band learns to play a new song.

All of this hard work and more goes into our school. You don't have to play football, fieldhockey, be a cheerleader, or play in the band to show school spirit. There are other things. The Beta club gets special attention for the good grades. Students in drama can travel around the state showing the skills they have.

Where does this lead? Spirit starts at birth, but it comes alive at Gloucester High!

FAMILY AFFAIRS

Have you ever seen some kid you know walk into Anna's tossing sharp glances into the dim crowd to see who is occupying the tables that night? He lets the door swing shut and darts his eyes behind him to see if he was able to shirk those people that had to tag along . . . his family.

"Maybe if I walk far enough ahead, no one will even know I am with them. Or I could just sit in the corner and turn my face away so people won't see me.

Just watch Susan spill her root beer again or Mom and Dad ask me to go play that new Lawrence Welk hit on the juke box.

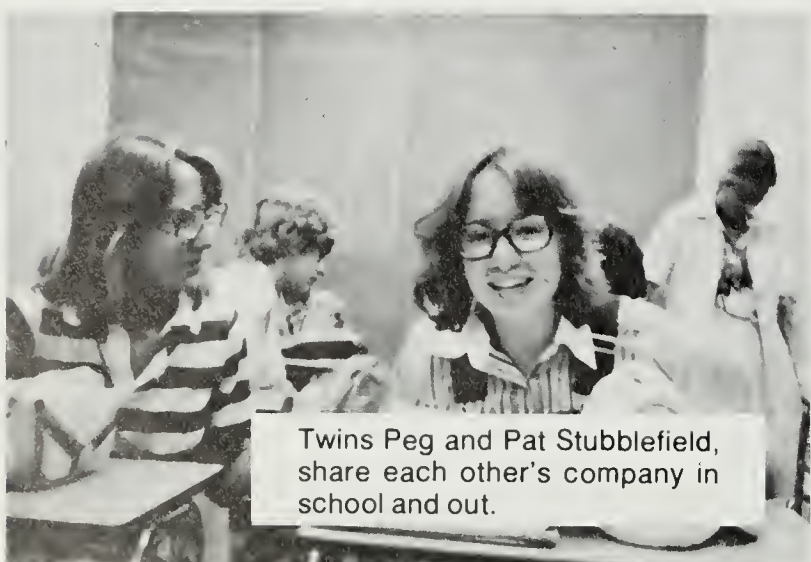

Maybe someday I'll look back on this and laugh and think how stupid I was for not wanting my family along. But for the time being . . . Susan just asked the waitress if they have a fun meal like at Burger Chef.

Sometimes when the family setting just isn't right, kids retreat to the bowling alley for fun.

The Cafeteria Isn't the Only Place

First came the odd-shaped pinnacle of the Pizza Hut, then the oblong Lou Smith Restaurant; then they painted Seawells Ordinary and finished up the Market Place. Before we realized it, Fred L. Pierce was cooking barbecue in his pit. All at once we were dazzled by the prospect of eating out. Anna's and school weren't the only choices anymore. Of course, we'll never forsake Mrs. Sutton's famed crabcakes, or lobster Thermidor at Nick's, but we do have a broader horizon to choose from. It sure feels nice to play the field.

Track Enthusiast Cheers at Powderpuff

Andy attended York High School last year but joined Gloucester in February, 1977. He is now a junior and hopes to become an architect. Andy likes to draw, go horseback riding, swimming, and running. This is Andy's second year on the cross country team. He also participated on the track team. In the cross country district meet, Andy came in eleventh place out of sixty-one people. Next year he hopes to come in first place.

Andy's last comment was that he likes Gloucester High much better than York.

Flag Team

The Gloucester High Flag-team has really improved this year. All together we've worked seven and a half hours a week. We earned our own money for uniforms by having bakesales and car washes during the summer. We've competed with our band in parades during this year and winning two of three first place trophies. We started out with eight girls on the team and ended up with five.

Though Death Intervenes

We possess a promise of rebirth with every soul we meet, every hand touched, every gift given, every smile exchanged.

The promise lies in our hearts — spent on compassion, bought with a sacrifice.

His birth brought the message renewed:

give of yourself.

Though death intervenes, the promise is assured,

a promise of rebirth with every soul

we meet, every life we touch, every joy we share.

Those who excell in sports deserve the admiration and attention that we give them. Being a member of a team is a status symbol, but physical abilities, perseverance, and patience are held high by athletes who have risen a notch above others as teams or individuals. Nathan Brown, Melora Sidney, Sherwood Jackson, Alton Sutherland, and the football and basketball teams have gained this recognition they have worked for.

Varsity Co-District Champs

The fans are at the gate; some are in the stands as they wait for their favorite team to enter onto the field. The band begins to play. Here they come! The Gloucester High Football team. The fans go crazy, yelling for the team they have waited all day to see. The team runs out on the field and begins warming up. The other team looks big but we're not scared. We can wipe out any team that comes our way.

The game begins. There goes the ball; Lawrence Brown receives. He's in for the touchdown. Later, at half time the Dukes are too far ahead for the other team to catch up. This was homecoming against Northumberland, the highest scoring game for Gloucester. After winning to Northumberland we won the next four games of our fantastic season.

This was Todd's best season leading the Dukes to a total of eight wins, two losses. This left us tied with Poquoson for first place in the district.

The total number of points made for Gloucester this year added up to 168 while points scored against us was only 79. Lawrence Brown, (22) was the highest scorer this year, and Kevin Banks (80) came in second.

J.V.-Varsity Girls' Basketball

The outside viewer may say that the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team had a losing season with a record of 2 wins and 10 losses. In spite of this the team kept high morale and a winning attitude throughout the season. A losing season, indeed, but definitely a winning team with four seniors: Bernetta Jackson, Renee Davis, Mary Hassell, and Alfreda Jackson who was highest scorer and rebounder on the team with sophomore Valeri Ellis following close behind her in scoring and rebounding.

This season has been a hard one for there were few experienced players, and a number of problems have appeared for the team. Coach Yvonne Smith has coped well with obstacles of the year, but "all's well that ends well" for the hockey team finished the season with fun experiences and a hard earned 2-1-3 record despite new rules and regulations.

The head coach for this year's varsity squad was Ed Holstrom. He was assisted by Reginald Brown. Holstrom cited the following as this season's highlights: the winning of the GHS Holiday Tournament, the double conquest of arch-rival, Mathews High School, and the Dukes' regular season record of 13 wins and 8 losses.

The Dukes' supreme triumph in the Christmas tournament created history at Gloucester High School. It was the first time that Gloucester had come in first place in a highly competitive tourney. To win the year's tournament championship, the Dukes defeated three excellent teams: Southampton 66-63, John Yeates 78-64, Poquoson 56-51.

The 1978-79 Gloucester JV basketball team, coached by Roger Loring, finished their regular season with a record of 9 wins and 9 losses. While referring to this seasonal record, Coach Loring remarked, "We are exceptionally pleased with it." Loring was delighted with his team's performance this year. "The new players responded extremely well to everything we asked of them. They proved that they can win in the tough York River District. We were also quite pleased with the attitude of these young players. They displayed both patience and discipline, and a genuine desire to do their best."

A New Dimension in Sports Gloucester Gymnasts Gain Prestige

The hustle and bustle in the locker room begins as the gymnastics girls change into leotards and sweat suits and start their three hour workout. With each day of practice the beginning team realizes the scarcity of uniforms, equipment, and devoted gymnasts. The season started with one goal gained as the new set of fiberglass bars were placed in the auxiliary gym. But a lack of girls to perform routines was still a problem and the team's anxiety grew with the approaching meet. On January 3rd Melora Sidney, Valerie Sidney, Delia Ray, Terri Pultz, Vicki Lett, and Dawn DeBolt competed against the experienced Menchville team, who took away an array of ribbons.

Honor Quail, the Gloucester coach worked constantly with the team to create enough routines on all four pieces of equipment to gain points. Meanwhile Don Mullins saved the day with leotards, supervised practices, and introduced muscle building exercises. On the date of the 3rd meet against York and Poquoson, the excitement mounted as Gloucester pulled their forces together and came through with flying colors, having the highest team score and Melora Sidney placing second in the "all around" category.

This was a year of learning for the group, each day being a new experience full of new tricks, helpful pointers, and sore muscles.

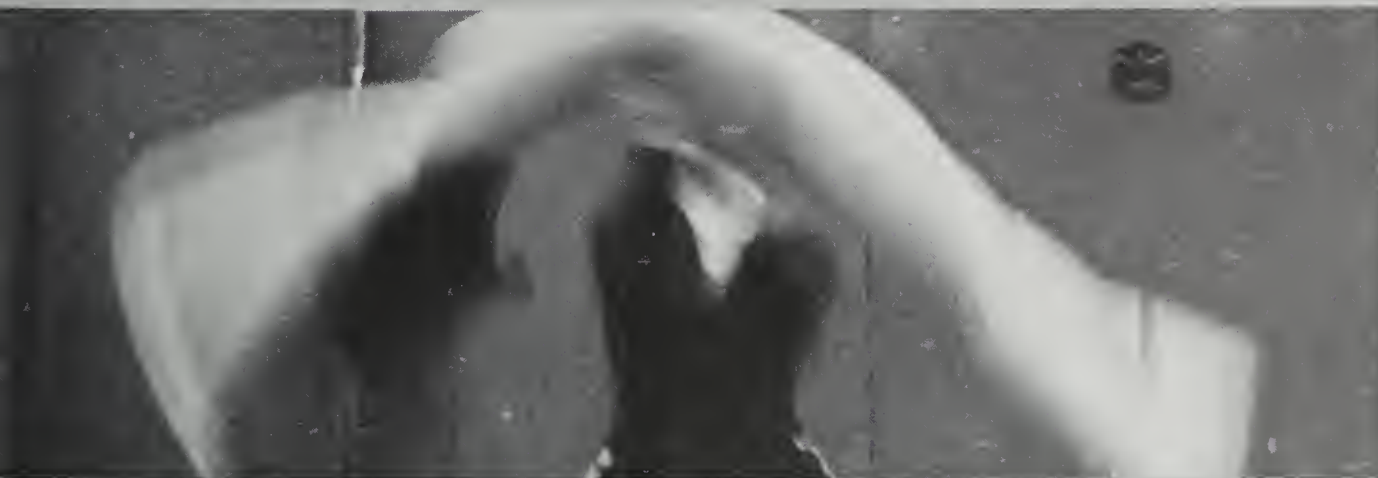

On the beam Melora Sidney warms up her backwalkover before a meet with unflawed precision.

At Gloucester's first home meet, a Menchville vaulter reaches for the horse, attempting a front handspring.

Dona Gillentine and Terri Pultz begin the basic part of a gymnast's warm-ups by doing splits on all three sides.

In the auxiliary gym, a blur of movement is seen passing through the air in front of Coach Honor Quail.

Industrial Cooperative Training

The I.C.T. program is a new concept developed by the State Dept. of Education; Gloucester High School was selected to be the first school in the state to try the new idea under the supervision of Jack Hutchins, the Industrial Arts teacher. There are eighty freshmen in the program this year.

The main idea of the new program is to expose incoming freshmen to various areas of vocational training that will be available to them during their last three years of high school.

All areas could not be covered in a year's time due to the many courses offered in the vocational wing, so four were picked for this year. They are Blueprinting and Design, Metals, Auto Mechanics and Building Trades.

The students will spend approximately seven to eight weeks with Mr. Hutchins, going over the basics of the four areas mentioned, and then they will spend one week with each of the other three teachers in their respective shops. This will enable the students to get a first hand look at the other areas. Hopefully, after the year is over, students will be able to make a logical decision about the vocational area they like the best.

Band Bedlam

The band stampeded outside ready to battle the heat and dust, blaring, drumming, talking, carousing, dancing, and laughing to the toots and beats of horns and drums. As the hockey and football teams assembled on their fields they could look across the heat waves and see the band marching and playing in unison as they followed the cues of drum major, Johnathan Hargis. At four thirty the stampede began. Band members fled to the teacher's lounge, sweaty faces dripping and instruments clanking. The drink machine spouted forth its bounty — oranges, grapes, and Mr. Pibbs overflowed. Out again to the field they go to pull together the rusty honks and misstepped feet.

On the nights of the home football games the band appeared in red, white, and black suits and marched smartly across the field. You could have never guessed that they were the crew of latter days as they stared solemnly after the performance was done.

In September the band went to White Stone for the annual County Fair Parade. Winning first place the band received a trophy and was presented with fifty dollars.

Johnathan Hargis concentrates on drum-majoring in the White Stone competition for bands.

The band makes last minute adjustments while getting ready to become straight-faced participants in the parade.

The band forms parallel lines along the White Stone streets as they march onward.

Martha Zahn and John Winslow try to organize music sheets and books in the band room.

Band director, Harry Lloyd, uses hand language to prove his point.

Flag bearers, Wanda Wolf, Sherri Conner, Amy Simpson, and Frances Batchelor lead the band at halftime on Homecoming night.

"Band Bedlam" continues as carousing kids take a break.

Lung Cancer Rate Surges, Up Sharply Among Women

WASHINGTON, AP — Lung cancer, the leading cause of death for men, has increased sharply among women in this country, according to a new report published Thursday.

The report, prepared by the National Cancer Institute, indicates the second rate of lung cancer in the United States and rising death tolls. The change are largely responsible for a growing number of cancer deaths among women.

When compared with the 1960s, lung cancer among women has increased sharply. In 1960, the rate was 10 per 100,000 women. By 1975, it had risen to 20 per 100,000. The report says that among white women, the rate rose from 10 per 100,000 in 1960 to 20 per 100,000 in 1975. Among black women, the rate rose from 10 per 100,000 in 1960 to 15 per 100,000 in 1975.

There have also been increases in the incidence of uterine and endometrial cancer among women. In 1960, the rate was 10 per 100,000 women. By 1975, it had risen to 15 per 100,000. The report says that among white women, the rate rose from 10 per 100,000 in 1960 to 15 per 100,000 in 1975. Among black women, the rate rose from 10 per 100,000 in 1960 to 12 per 100,000 in 1975.

But there is one good news story, the report says. The rate of breast cancer, which has been rising sharply since the 1960s, has leveled off in recent years. The report says that among white women, the rate was 10 per 100,000 in 1960 and 10 per 100,000 in 1975. Among black women, the rate was 10 per 100,000 in 1960 and 10 per 100,000 in 1975.

Christmas Concert

 Center: Preparation for the Christmas concert includes decorating the auditorium.
 Left, Lower: Clarence Cully uses all his air creatively.
 Upper Right: Orgy! No, just the Madrigals singing their traditional T'was the Night Before Christmas.
 Middle Right: We all heard that beautiful concert.

School: A Time-Consuming Job

Our activities take up as much time as our school work or so it seems. From the ring dance to class meetings to just plain having fun we know how to make the best of everything. Well, almost everything, with the exception of an occasional test or report.

Through thick and thin, quizzes and report cards we have laughed, smiled, worried, and even cried a little. We have made new friends and reacquainted ourselves with old ones. Putting up with teachers and administration has kept us busy, too. Or maybe that should be the teachers and administration putting up with us has taken up quite a lot of time.

Middle: One never knows what they have to be subjected to in order to get an ice cream.

Bottom Left: I told you today was Saturday.

erland display a cake molded by Mrs. Benton for the display. Bottom Left: LaMar Bartlett is overjoyed by the presence of Denise Dickey, but Denise has something (or someone) else on her mind.

Talented students, Mr. Raynes, and a good script was all that was needed to produce the fall production, M*A*S*H. A good number of the cast were freshmen, although the upperclassmen were not few by any means. Mr. Raynes was the director while Vickie Stephen, stage manager, and Jeri Webb, assistant manager kept the backstage scene in line. With a few cases of stage fright and some little mishaps, the director kept the whole crew working to produce one of the drama department's finest comedies.

The "One Acts" were presented in late winter with quite a few cast members from the fall production plus several new stars were added on. Again, Mr. Raynes directed and Vickie Stephen and Tammy Harwood were stage manager's assistants to the director. Two presentations of the "One Acts" were given at the Peninsula Community Theatre and with that honor there is no stopping the drama department until the end of the spring musical.

Even though zoning has remained a hot issue all through the school year, the students at GHS have continued to produce dramas, stage band and choir concerts, participate in debates, defeat other soccer, football, basketball, tennis, wrestling, hockey, softball, and baseball teams, to study hard for exams, to take the minimum competency exams, to react in horror at the Jonestown murders and suicides, to wait breathlessly for the outcome of the Middle East peace talks between Sadat and Begin.

The accomplishments of the school year seem relatively insignificant compared to world events that we read about in the Daily Press, just as the community squabble over zoning seems inconsequential to those who have no interest in community affairs. However, the questions that face a community today will be decided either by the apathy of the citizens or by the forward looking who see the needs of a community and respond to those needs. After all, this county is where we live, and we all wish to make it a beautiful and pleasant place.

The school is where the students live, too. Because the students and teachers and administrators and school board and supervisors have taken pride in their school, we are able to say with pride that we are from "God's Country": Gloucester County, Virginia, a place that's ZONED FOR ACTION.

Mary, to a really sweet person who I have enjoyed setting at the lunch table with. Remember Paula and the clown cheese. Stay cool and good luck with Ronnie.

Beth

Mary,
Well, what can I say,
you're crazy! I'm glad I got to meet you this year. Stay sweet and hopefully I'll see you at the pool. Best of luck in the future
(that's what everyone says)
